EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

GOVERNOE JOHNSON AND THE NATIONAL IN-TELLIGENCER.

The National Intelligencer-that Mrs. Partington of the newspeper press-devotes a large amount of its space to the Inaugural address of Gov. Joneson. of this State. The garrulous and purblind old dame sets down Andrew Johnson as the enemy of letters! This, however, is not a discovery for which the Intelligencer is entitled to a patent. The idea was pillered from the original columns of our neighbor of the True Whiq, whose great aptitude for seeing through millstones and discovering what don't exist, is astonishing and proverbial. No less profounds thinker than our neighbor could have hit upon the ides that such a man as Axonew Jourson-who, with the exception of FRANKLIN, is the brightest illustration our country has produced of the pursuit. of knowledge under difficulties, and whose whole life has been emphatically that of a scholar-is inimical to institutions of learning, or the opponent of education in any form. M'CLURE has lately discovered the North-west passage-but we think our neighbor's discovery has fairly taken the wind out of his sails. M'CLORE only discovered what every intelligent man believed to exist-but our neighbor has discovered a fact that no intelligent man ever dreamed of previously, and which we fear no intelligent man will ever give him much credit for. It is a tale that will do to be told, in a private way, "to the marines." and such venerable dames as the National Intelligencer, but among those who know aught of Gov. Jourson's history, from the hard fortunes of his boyhood to his present hour of triumph, it will not pass

But enough of our neighbor. We have alluded to him here simply to vindicate his genius against the bare-faced plagiarism of his Washington cotemporary. We wish merely to give him his due, and secure for him-when he is no more, and when an absurdity to require any answer. It is one of history is forgetful of his fame-a niche among the great discovers of the age.

The Intelligencer's strictures upon Gov. Johnson's address are ably replied to by the Washington Union. We copy the Union's article at length.

DEMOCRACY AND EDUCATION. Three of the broad columns of the National Intelligencer on Saturday last were devoted by its editors to what they are pleased to term "the genius of democracy as being opposed to education." The late inaugural address of Hon. Andrew Johnson, delivered upon his installation as governor of Tennessee, furnishes the text for this remarkable diatribe against democracy; and notwithstanding its great ength and breadth, the editors regret that their omments are not as full as they could desire. It is due to Governor Johnson, whose meaning has been grossly perverted, and to democracy, whose genius unjustly misrepresented, that we should not allow this clumsy specimen of genteel calumny to pass un-The editors of the Intelligencer have devoted the best part of a life-time to an insidious warfare upon democracy, in which they have constantly sought to maintain the appearance of fairness and candor, whilst their weapons have been all the time pointed with poison. The article before us has all the characteristics of the peculiar tactics of that journal, except that its misrepresentations and perversions are more transparent than most of the ingenious assaults which are made upon democracy through that channel.

It is no ordinary offence against truth and justice to attribute to such a man as Andrew Johnson a feeling of hostility to education. His early mistortunes in life cut him off from the benefits of mental culture, but they did not destroy either the will or the capacity of the noble spirited youth to command by his own exertions the advantages which the apprentice system of his boyhood had denied to him. By his own untiring exertions he has succeeded in acquiring an education which enables him to rank the country. At the threshold of his career his strong, native mind was impressed with the value of intellectual cultivation; and the want of it on his own part only caused him to appreciate it the more highly. By a perseverance which none but those mburd by nature with noble attributes of soul could exhibit, he has long since taken his place in the front ranks of intellectual eminence. But Governor Johnson has had constant occasion to regret the early disadvantages against which he labored, and to cheris; a sincere solicitude that other young men should be enabled to enjoy the facilities of education which were denied to himself. To charge such a man with hostility to education is the rankest injustice. In the very address which has provoked the elaborate criticism of the Intelligencer Governor Johnson gives utterance to sentiments which stamp the charge made against him of being hostile to education as an unfounded misrepresentation. It is true that he does not fall into the sotion of giving exclusive encouragement to "academies and colleges," nor does he exclude them from a general system of education which will diffuse its benefits to all orders and conditions of society. The following

"The true policy of the government, both State and general, consists in the education and diffusion of general information among the great mass of the people, and at the same time employing all the means by which the toiling, producing labor of the country can be elevated to its proper position. Our children should be made thoroughly acquainted with the genius and spirit of our beautiful, though complex, form of government. The constitution of the United States and of the States, with their commentaries, should be made one of the principal books to be studied and understood in all the schools of our country, and thus a thorough knowledge of the genius and character of our free institutions acquired. And if it shall be the pleasure of Divine Providence to exempt this so far favored nation from all wars for the next fifty years, and it be permitted to go on as it has been-cultivating the arts and sciences of peace-it will have no superior, if an equal, throughout the civilized or pagan world. If agriculture, mechanics, internal improvements, with all their legitimate incidents, are permitted to approximate anything like perfection, we will be the most powerful and formidable people upon the lass of God's habitable globe. Why not, then, pursue that line of policy which will enable us to attain this the cost of the road. This stringency in finances, great and important end, making this people the wonder and admiration of the enlightened nations main; a few weeks or months, at most, will relieve of the earth? We should adopt as a rule for our future action that which was laid down by the immortal Jefferson on the 4th of March, 1801:

Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever State or persuasion, religious or political; peace, commerce, and honest friendship with all nations-entangling alliances with none.

In the face of sentiments like these, the editors of the Intelligences, through three broad columns, per- where, then, is the possibility of a failure or permasist in representing Gov. Johnson as the enemy of education. The charge rests upon a palpable misrepresentation of an allusion made by him to the means by which many young men are prejudiced in early life against democracy. He said:

"I have not deemed it improper nor out of place on this occasion to make a single allusion to the young men of our country. Many of them, while study of their professions, impercentibly imbibe notions prejudicial to democracy. Their wealth, and too frequently their preceptors-many of whom are bigoted and supercilious on account of their literary attainments and assumed superior information on most subjects-inspire their students with false ideas of their own superiority, mixed with a superabundance of self-esteem, which cause them to feel that the great mass of mankind were intended by their Creator to be hewers of wood and drawers of water; that it is in this government as it was in olden Rome between the patricians and plebians, where, in fact, the people never enjoyed for one moment that pure liberty and freedom of thought and of action which is eajoyed by the people of the United States. To this class of young men I have a few remarks to make in reference to the great principles of democracy, the scope and design of which I greatly fear they have as yet wholly failed to comprehend, and if comprehended, not duly appreciated."

We are at some loss to imagine how the editors of the Intelligencer could misconstrue the true meaning of the foregoing language. So far from being an expression of hostility to academies and colleges, it is an allusion to one of the abuses to which those and, by an astonishing facility of logical absordity, arrives at the conclusion that democracy is hostile to education. After quoting the extract above, the Intelligencer says: "From the earlier portion of this extract it will be seen that Gov. Johnson, as a genuine and consistent democrat, entertains a very natural ropngnance for 'academies and colleges.' It is clear that he regards education as inimical to democracy, or to the principles of the democratic party proper, as he elsewhere calls it; and in this we confess it, as r own opinion, that the worthy governor is mor than half right. We have long shrewdly suspected as much ourselves, though perhaps it least became

We submit to the reader whether there is anything in the meaning of Governor Johnson's remark which gives even plausibility to the imputations contained in this extract. But the assump that Governor Johnson "regards education as inimi-cal to democracy" is wholly gratnitous, and flatly contradicted by the whole spirit of the address, as well as by the specific declarations which we have already quoted. But even upon the assumption that Governor Johnson was inimical to education, we submit that it was neither logical nor just in the Intelligencer to assume therefore that democrpes to education. That the editors of that ournal should entertain the opinion that "education is inimical to democracy" is not surprising. It is but the resuscitation of that arrogant claim which the antiquated teachers of whigism were formerly in the habit of setting up to "all the intelligence," a well as all the decency of the country. It comes up now like a voice from the tombs of whigism, and will be regarded as a curious instance of persistence in error and delusion. It is a striking illustration of the "bigotry and superciliousness" of that class of whigs who in former days made high pretensions to "literary attainments," but repudiated in practice all claim to common sense. It is a sure badge of that ancient federalism which Gov. Johnson critieises in his address, and which the editors of the Intelligencer seem to regard as a personal attack upon them. We have no complaints to make against our neighbors for adhering with pervous sensitiveless to the delusions of their early days. But we do object most strenuously to their attempt to saddle upon so eminent a democratic statesman as Governor Johnson a doctrine which he would de nounce with as much earnestness and vehemence as he would the sentiment that the whigs have all the intelligence of the country. Governor Johnson is as true and devoted a friend of education as any man living, and he has the intelligence and the independence to expose one of the means by which ederalism has sought to perpetuate itself, and for this the Intelligencer assails hun. The charge that democracy is immical to education is too barelaced those antiquated calumnies upon the democratic party which are fit subjects for amusement rather than matter for grave comment. Antiquarians may be pardoned for bringing them out of their cabnets of curiosities, but beyond this they excite no other feeling but one of compassion for the few who are still so unfortunate as to entertain the idea that ark Advertiser (a whig paper) : "THE ELECTION.-We have to record to-day a lecided defeat of the whig party by a majority that may reach EIGHTTHOUSAND VOTES in all the State, though the present incomplete condition of the returns makes the result a matter of estimation. Mr. Price is consequently elected Governor of New Jersey. The whigs have not, probably, gained any members of the legislature, in both chambers of which they were in a uninority last year; perhaps not maintained their power in proportion

A majority of EIGHT THOUSAND VOTES makes New Jersey, next to Texas, the banner State of the democracy. The democrats claim a much larger majority, as the official returns will likely show.

Mississippi.-The democratic ticket is elected by rom live to ten thousand majority. WM. > Wisconsin.-A letter to the Washington Union from Milwaukie says:

The returns from the interior come in slowly, but they indicate the election of the entire democratic State ticket by a majority of from 5,000 to 10,000 votes over the combined forces of whiggery and abolitionism. The question of a prohibitory law has entered largely in the canvass, and in the democratic vote from 1,000 to 2,000. Under all circumstances, it is a most brilliant triumph.

An effort has been made to create the impression that a portion of the democratic nominees were hostile to the national administration, and sympathized with the adamantines in New York. This is not correct. There are not one hundred democrats in this State that side with the bolters in New York. Every effort is made to keep our State free from the unfortunate dissensions of our elder sister, and I think it will be successful. No democrat could be elected in Wisconsin who would avow hostility to the national administration. General Prence has as many and as last friends in Wisconsin as he has in his own New Hampshire, and any sentiments are worthy of the high character of Gov. movement to embarrass or thwart his administration would meet with as stern a rebuke here as it would among the granite hills.

The Hon. Charles G. Atherton, U. S. Senator from New Hampshire, who commenced last March a new term of six years, is dead. He was the son of the Hon, Charles H. Atherton, a Federal colleague of Daniel Webster in the House of 1814-16, and a lawyer of eminent ability and worth, residing in Amherst, N. H., where Charles G. was born, though he has resided for the last twenty years at Nashua. The younger Atherton has served with distinction in the New Hampshire Legislature and in Congress, having served in the House from 1837 to 1843, and in the Senate from '43 to '49, prior to his re-election last year. He was a lawyer and a politician of more than average abilities. N. Y. Tribune. There are idle rumors about the Nashville road, which will answer the purpose of speculators who wish to buy up tax receipts for a song. There is no ground for any lack of confidence in the success of this enterprise; it is absolutely certain. Even if the present stringency in the money market should continue, it would only increase a small per cent., the present pressure, and the railroad enterprises that are suffering at present a good deal of inconvenience for want of ready cash. It should be recollected, that the city has a deep interest in this road; and it is a serious damages to her interest, and the pockets of the tax payers, to credit idle and unfounded rumors. This road has lost none of its original resources. Its securities are unimpaired: nent embarrassment.-Louisville Democrat.

At New Albany there have been no arrivals of logs as yet, owing to the unfavorable weather for slaughtering; contracts, however, have been made by the packers of that place, for large numbers, which will be brought in and slaughtered as soon as the weather becomes sufficiently cool. Prices are unsettled, and there is that lack of confidence among dealers calculated to give firmness to the market. Prices may be said to range from $4.25 to $4.75 net. The Ledger says, that the railroad company are fully prepared to carry all the bogs which may be offered for transportation, without those vexatious delays which heretofore have been sources of annovance and complaint. MR SOULE AND QUEEN ISABELLA'S POW WOW. On the evening of the 22d of October Mr. Son United States Minister to Spain, was admitted to an audience with the Queen. The Queen was attended by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and by the officers of the Palace. After being u-hered in with the usual ceremonies. Mr. Soule handed to the Queen the President's letter, accrediting him as Euvoy to the Spanish Court, and then addressed her as follows in the English language:

MIL SOULE'S SPEECH. MADAME-In delivering the letter which accredits me as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of America to the Court of your Majesty, I cannot dispense with exressing the satisfaction I experience in having on-to give the most friendly assurance to your royal son, and to the people confided to your direction

The respected chief who presides at this moment over the destinies of America, anxiously desires that the best understanding should characterize the relations of his government with that of your Maesty, and if would be to me a gratification, as it is a duty, to cultivate and develope every event calculated to render more intimate the ties of interest which exist between Spain and the United Ftates, and to strengthen the bonds which unite the two powers. I offer, Madame, to your Majesty my sincere wishes for the welfare of your royal person and august family. May the reign of your Majesty be fortunate and fruitful in events destined to render your people happy and prosperous.

QUEEN ISABELLA'S REPLY. MONSIEUR TIDE MINISTER-I have heard with satisfaction the assurances you have given me relative to the friendly sentiments of the President of the United States, and I feel pleasure in assuring you that they are not surpassed by those which mate me for his person and for your country. Those new assurances, always grateful to me, convince me more and more of the interest which Spain, as well as the United States, have to preserve and draw closer their former relations. In me your Excellency will find the best dispositions, and in my government the sincerest co-operation for the accomplish ment of so important and so desirable an object.

The New York Express devotes a column or two to what it terms "The Land of Mystery:" We have read with the deepest interest some accounts that have come to us by the late California steamer, relative to the discovery of certain ruined cities in a tract of country known as the Great Basin-which the reader will find laid down on any of the late maps, bounded on the north by the Washata Mountains, and the settlements of the Mormons in Utah, on the east by the Rocky Mountains skirting the right bank of the Rio Grande, on the south by the Gila, and the west by the Sierra Nevada. This tract of country is an immense table land, broken toward the Gila and the Rio Grande by detached mountains. The country is barren and desolate, and entirely uninhabited even by the lowest order of Indiana. Trappers and mountaineers have passed all around the inner side of its rim, but none have ever crossed it, with the exception of Mr. Beale, who traversed, on his recent trip, its northern slope, and Capt. Joe. Walker, the famous mountaineer, who passed through its centre in the win ter of 1850. But though now so bleak and forbid-their former greatness. Meanwhile, we see the savans of California are ffering all sorts of suggestions as a key to this puzzle; but the most plausible we have seen, it occurs to us, is, that it was here that the ancestors of the Aztecs lived-the same Aztecs Cortez found in Mexco, for they were known to have come from the north. There is a tradition that they sallied out from their homes, directed by their prophets not to cease their march till they came across an eagle sitting upon a cactus, with a serpent in its claws. This they found where the city of Mexico now stands, and here they established their dominion.

ican dollar, Money Matters.-The New York Times of Tuesday says:

There was more money offering on loan at call than the leading stock borrowers found use for; the rate in this way is 7 per cent. The bill-houses continue to pass paper at 12 per cent., though some choice signatures are now held for 10 per cent.— Very little done to-day in foreign exchange. Prime sterling 109a1001. (The banks are not generally inclined to extend their discounts, but their weekly statement, reported to Saturday, shows a very steady movement in both loans and deposites, and a gratifying increase of over $1,050,000 in specie. The total of the latter, $12,822,000, is the largest sum reported in bank at any one period since the discovery of California.

The New York Mirror of Tuesday evening has the following:

The elongated visages that have been constantly met in the streets for the past two months, when their owners were bound on "shinning" explora tions, may now be seen wreathed with smiles as the manifest relief in the money market lessens their labors and anxieties. The banks give them discounts, and they are restored to their wonted erenity. Money relieves troubled souls much as it does empty pockets, and we shall soon see everybody become better natured, as their purses grow more plethoric

The relief of the money market is quite manifest to-day. There is more inquiry for first class paper at 12 per cent., and some prime signatures ave been passed even lower. The wants of the nerchants are not so great as they were, nearly all their payments to banks having been made. On call the rate is 7 per cent, with good supply. The railroad borrowers are now the greatest sufferers, and will be probably for some time.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Friday says: Money continues to improve gradually, and rates to-day were easier for first class paper, with a fall-ing off in the out-door offerings. Eastern exchange s firm with an upward tendency, and some of the bankers advanced rates 1. We quote 4a4 buying,

The brokers are purchasing it at one per cent, discount. We do not see how the parties who have paid out the best institutions in the country, but some misunderstanding arose as to the arrangements that had been effected, under which the paper had been taken as the notes of other Banks. If the Tennessee banks were really desirous to have their paper placed here upon a par basis, their action, which was announced to-day, was most injudicious. The barrier erected by this step must be ten times more difficult of removal than that which has heretofore kept the paper below the

which has heretofore kept the paper below the notes of the banks of other Western State.

The public unquestionably have been unfairly dealt with in this matter. They had assurances that the arrangement was not a temporary one, and for the banks, and those who paid out the paper, somebanks, and those who paid out the paper, something should be done to prevent parties who received the currency in good faith from being shaved to the amount of one per cent. We understand that a New York agent of an English capitalist has submitted a proposition to the Little Miami Rialway Company, for their bonds amounting to $500,000, advertised in New York some time since, but subsequently withdrawn owing to the unfavorable condition of the money market. The proposition, we learn, is that, if the company will make the interest 7 per cent. instead of 6 he will take the whole amount at par. This is regarded as a most favorable indication of returning ease in money circles, STEVENSON, Ala., Nov. 16, 1858. This will certify, that I have prescribed Dr. J. P. Dremgoole's "Female Bitters" in my practice for the past twelve months, in the various female complaints for which it is remended, and I unhesitatingly assert that in the whole Materia Medica, which I have scarched during a practice of thirty years, I have never found a medicine which excited such a prompt and permanent influence over the several emale complaints which it professes to cure, and which it does cure. I have used it to my entire satisfaction, and know it to be of rare qualities, and its effects being always permanent. I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering fea ales, both old and young, as an efficient remedial agent, and worthy their full and unbounded confidence. When once used, it will speak for itself. To those who are unacquainted with me, I refer to Alex. Aiken, Elliott & Thompson, Jett & Branes, Evans & Cumminns, and Dr. J. A. Blake man, of Shelbyville; John R. Eakin and Andrew Erwin, Nartrace. nov22-dlw A WARNING. Delay not; harbor not in your mind that sente foots' philosophy, that a disease will get well of itself, or that you can cure it with certain medicines for a few dollars, Beware how you tamper with your general welfare. Ye wild and vicious youths, why will ye persist in dosing with the filthy nausorting compounds daily proffered, thereby impairing your appetite and digestion and destroying you mentally as well as physically, when you can be cured with a few doses of pleasant medicines? Ye rakes of every age and condition, why will ye suffer and repine and drag out a miserable existence, unfitted for the enjoyment and even ordinary pursuits of life? You who are thus annoyed and wish to be restored to health and vigor by a treatment at once pleasant and effectual, should consult Dr. MORRIS. His success in chronicle discusses by seen greater than that of any other physician of his day, Many who have been for years afflicted with disease or consequences resulting from excess have been restored to health and vigor under his really scientific treatment. Old Ulears, Tetter Cancers, Piles, Fistula in Ano, Gravei Erictures, Glots, or any disease whatever of an aggravated or malignant charter, can be cured at home by consulting Dr. Morres, by letter, post paid, enclosing five dollars, Medicines pleasant and safe, can be sent per mail to any part of the United States. At the Verandah Hotel, kept by Mrs. Er MONDSON and her son-in-law Mr. Bachus, there is a gentleman from Scott County, Ky, who for tooles months, suffer ed greatly from a chronic disease of the stomach and bowels, which could not be removed by the most opproved practice, respected and continued as it was for the Dector's sake. He had paid his Doctor's Bill, without any calculation of making another, thoking it was of no use; and no one expressed any hope of his recovery except a stranger, who sale by happened to pass that way, and advised him to a different course of treatment, which has this recommendation, that in fice weeks time it has made him feel like engaging in business. But why does he come out of this spell of sickness astrong advocate of Dr. Arnold's Union Pills? Because, they are the principal remedy used in the treat-ment of his case; and to their efficacy he is principally indebted for his recovery. Should not such cases be publish ed? If some persons are opposed to their publication, can anybody tell us the reason why?

The gentleman above referred to is ELLAS STONE, a brother of John Stone, the clerk at the Verandar.
